

Iceland

by SavoredJourneys.com

Iceland has so much to offer travelers, from the wild and dramatic landscape and the majestic waterfalls and glaciers, to the endless adventures to be had while hiking, biking, caving and exploring the natural wonders that fill the Island.

WHEN TO GO

WHAT TO DO

1. Soak in thermal baths
2. See the Northern Lights
3. Tour the Golden Circle
4. Try new culinary delights
5. Horseback riding
6. Whale watching
7. Caving & hiking
8. Explore Thorsmork
9. Visit Snæfellsnes
10. See geothermal geysirs

WHAT TO EAT

- Langostine
- Lobster soup
- Puffin
- Minke Whale
- Reindeer

WHAT TO DRINK

- Brennevin
- Local microbrews
- Wine is very expensive!

APRIL - MAY
The days are longer, so you'll have more time to explore without the crowds and high-season prices.

SEPTEMBER-NOVEMBER
Prices are lower, and there are fewer travelers so it's less crowded than during the summer months.

JULY - AUGUST
You'll experience long days, midnight sun, better weather and everything being more green and lush.

WHERE TO GO

Reykjavik

Reykjavik is a small town, but is overflowing with things to do, from art museums, the impressive Hallgrímskirkja Church, Laugavegur walking street and harbor areas

Golden Circle

The Golden Circle route is teeming with natural wonders like Gullfoss waterfall, Geysir and glaciers. The most accessible area from Reykjavik, the Golden Circle is a popular route.

Coastline

The entire coastline of the island offers dramatic scenery, incredible hiking and picturesque red and black sand beaches. Many visitors choose to rent a car or join a tour group that circles the whole island.

Transportation

From the airport, either rent a car or grab a seat on one of the tourist transfer buses that are waiting outside

Tips & Info

- Credit cards are the accepted method of payment everywhere so cash isn't needed.
- Tipping isn't expected.
- Showering is required before entering a thermal bath.
- Bring your own towel and slippers to the Blue Lagoon.
- The Northern Lights can't be seen year round. They are best viewed during the cold months from midnight to 3am with a camera tripod.
- Make restaurant reservations well ahead of time.